Breathe life into your space with a housing system for lighting

Ultraframe

Transforming light and space

Change more than just the light

It is amazing how lighting can change the whole atmosphere in a room.

With a central lighting panel from Ultraframe there is no restriction to the style of light that can be fitted in your conservatory, orangery or glass extension. The central lighting panel boasts a patented configurable, insulated electrical housing system for easy installation and an enhanced lighting style. It will also improve heat retention in the Winter!

Lighting doesn't just enhance a room; it can redefine the look and feel of your entire interior design. A well lit room helps you do all the things you love, whether it's reading a book or setting the mood for relaxation or a family get together.

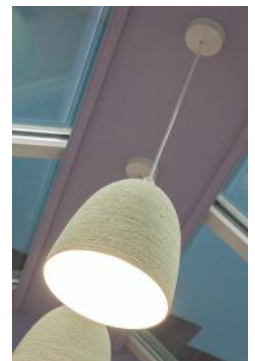

The central lighting panel can incorporate many different types of lighting from spots and rail lights to pendants or chandeliers.

The central lighting panel adds an insulated electrical housing system to the centre ridge under-cladding of a glazed roof (or where the roof meets the house wall on a Lean-to style conservatory or extension). This enables you to install lights in places where you otherwise wouldn't be able to; giving your glazed extension a more 'roomlike' feel.

Furthermore, it addresses one of the main heat loss areas in a glazed extension, helping your room to remain warm and more thermally efficient.

Bring the Room to life by painting the Livinlight to match your décor and furniture or leave it white to emulate a ceiling. Paint the LivinLight a neutral colour for a relaxing ambience or make a statement using a bold colour and contemporary lighting... the choice is yours!
